

What is claimed is:

1. A CD rack including two horizontal rods having both ends extended downward to form supporting legs, the lower end of the leg being bent to become a curved end, a lateral rod being provided therebetween, and a fence being mounted on one of the horizontal rod for storing CD cases.
2. A CD rack as claimed in claim 1, wherein two or more CD rack units are engaged together to become a rack system, in which the upper rack unit has the curved end of the leg to engage elastically with upper portion of the leg of the lower rack unit, and the lateral rod of the upper rack unit is placed on the two horizontal rods of the lower rack unit.
3. A CD rack as claimed in claim 2, wherein the rack units can be disassembled and stored with a small space.